OUTLINES.

The policy of Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou in relieving the money stringency will be to cut out red tape and as promptly as possible distribute the new treasury certificates where they will do the most good, the money proceeds at once to go to the relief of centers that need currency most——President Roosevelt last night held a conference with J. Pierpont Morgan and President Baker of the First National Bank of New York, but the nature of the conference was not divulged——At a conference of members of the Democratic National Committee at French Lick, Ind., with Chairman Tom Taggart, yesterday, was decided to have a meeting of the committee at Washington, December 12, to name the time and place for the 1908 National Convention——At the hearing of the government case against the Tobacco Trust, in New York yesterday, Vice President Harris of the American Tobacco Company, testified that the tariff prevents any foreign competition with the company in the United States——The Federal grand jury at Danville, Va., investigating extensive frauds among whiskey distillers, yesterday indicted G. W. Richardson, a large distiller, and Store Keeper and Gauger B. L. Howard was indicted on several counts for collusion——At yesterday's meeting of the American Federation of Labor at the Jamestown Exposition an eight-hour day campaign was decided on and from now on funds will be laid aside for a general strike if the demand is not granted; the union label is demanded on all commodities offered for sale to unionists——Bradstreets reports the tone of business better but the unseasonably warm weather is an obstacle——After a stormy passage of 3,000 miles across the Atlantic, the biggest and most luxurious steamship of the world, the Mauretania, arrived in New York yesterday at 11:05 o'clock on her first trip across the ocean; her time in crossing the ocean was 5 days, 5 hours and 10 minutes——The trial of Mrs. Annie M. Bradley, charged with the murder of Senator Brown, at Washington, yesterday reached the stage where all the testimony for the defense is in, except the examination of experts on a hypothetical question of 13,000 words as to her insanity at the time of the murder——New York markets: Money on call firm 6 to 15 per cent.; ruling rate 12, closing bid 6, offered at 12; spot cotton 10 points higher, closing steady at 11.20; flour quiet and unchanged; wheat irregular, No. 2 red 98 1-4 elevator, No. 2 hard winter 1.04 1-4; corn weak, No. 2, 64 1-2 elevator, No. 2 white 66 1-2; turpentine easy 48; rosin quiet.

Many a man wants the motto, "In God We Trust," to remain on our coins, but he forgets that it is there when he makes his money do dirty service for him.

When president Roosevelt is down and out, having finally dodged a third term, he might write us some new books entitled, "From Ranch to White House," "From Broncho Breaker to Trust Buster," "Harrimans That I Have Harried," etc., etc.

Uncle Remus has been eating with President Roosevelt at the White House. Maybe Teddy didn't want to expose him but sent for him so he could corner Uncle Remus and quietly tell him that he is the cleverest nature faker in the bunch.

A contemporary remarks: "In view of the panic we see that money still talks." It is hard to tell what money does do. Among other things it makes the mare go; it takes wings; it flies; it hides; and it must be able to run, for most everybody chases the dollar.

The Greensboro Record has installed a Cox Duplex press and otherwise added to its equipment. The Record is an able, sturdy and most excellent Democratic paper and it deserves the success that enables it to so equip itself as to meet the requirements of Greensboro for a paper to its liking.

The Southern States Commissioners of Agriculture, at their closing meeting in Columbia on Thursday, made up their estimate of the 1907 cotton crop. They figured it out as 11,412,829 bales. On the same day the Census Bureau report made at Washington indicated a crop of 11,500,000 bales. These two authorities are pretty close together and the truth is about to be realized that we have a very short crop of cotton.

"Where has the money of the country gone to?" inquires a financial journal. Protected trusts and manufacturers who have been getting artificially high prices for everything they make and sell, could, if they would, tell where a few stacks of it can be found. Their prices have helped to impoverish consumers. The more money that concentrates in the hands of the few the less the "average man" can have. Distribution and not concentration of wealth is what the country needs.

VICTOR E. ZOELLER

Leading Jeweller and Prominent Young Business Man Passed Away Yesterday.

AN ATTACK OF PERITONITIS

Death Came as Shock to Family and Friends—Had Been Critically Ill But Short Time—His Life Spent Here.

The community was saddened and shocked yesterday afternoon upon the announcement of the death of Mr. Victor E. Zoeller, a leading jeweler and one of the most prominent young business men of Wilmington, which occurred at 2 o'clock at his home in this city, No. 616 Chesnut street, after an acute illness of but a few days with peritonitis. Few people in the city knew that Mr. Zoeller was sick and even others who knew that he was confined to his home, did not know that his condition was at all serious. The community, therefore, was totally unprepared for the shock that came with the announcement of his death.

About ten days ago he began to complain of feeling unwell and about a week ago, it became necessary for him to remain indoors, but he was still able to be up and as late as the night before his death sat in the sick room and chatted quite pleasantly with those about him. Yesterday morning, however, he became worse and though he retained consciousness almost up to the hour that the summons came, it was seen that the end was drawing near. He was not oblivious to this fact and before the death hour arranged all his business affairs and told those about him that it was but a question of a short time until he would pass over the river. He was prepared and waiting for the call that came within all so short a time.

Victor Edward Zoeller was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Zoeller, and was born in the city of New York 47 years ago last September. Early in life he came to Wilmington, chose the profession of a jeweler and applied himself with all the energy and determination that was in his soul, and above all, energy and perseverance were among the distinguishing traits of his character. In this trade or profession, Mr. Zoeller was engaged in Wilmington for 32 years, enjoying the confidence, esteem and respect of all with whom he came in contact. For 25 years he was jeweler and watchmaker for Mr. George Honnett, one of the leading establishments of its kind in the city, but seven years ago withdrew from this employment to engage in business for himself, opening his present place of business at 104 North Front street under the firm name of Victor E. Zoeller & Co., where he built up a large and most select trade, enjoying this until death came to so sadly end a career that promised so much.

Ten years ago last January Mr. Zoeller and Miss Bertha Schuster were happily united in marriage, their devotion to one another having been beautiful. Two sweet little children came to bless this union, Miss Bertha and Master Victor E. Zoeller, Jr., and these with the deeply bereaved young wife are left to mourn the loss of a kind and indulgent father and husband. The parents of the deceased passed away many years ago and of the immediate family besides those named, there is also left surviving an only brother, Mr. August H. Zoeller, who has been connected with the firm of Victor E. Zoeller & Co., for a number of years. All the sorrowing ones have the tenderest sympathy of many friends in the deep bereavement which is theirs. A brother-in-law of the deceased, Mr. A. O. Schuster, who is pleasantly remembered in Wilmington, but who is now a manufacturing jeweler of Newark, N. J., is expected here to attend the funeral services the announcement of which will be made later.

"Sweetest Girl in Dixie."

The "Sweetest Girl in Dixie" was the offering at the Academy of Music last night and it gave very general satisfaction to the fairly large-sized audience present. It was the verdict of those who attended that the play was even better produced than last season when it was seen and greatly enjoyed by a large audience.

WEEKLY PORT STATISTICS

Cotton Receipts Continue Heavy. British Steamer Clears With Cargo For Bremen—Paragraphs of the Port—Other Notes.

In spite of the fact that it is claimed that much cotton is being held for higher prices in the interior, the receipts at the port of Wilmington continue to show increases from week to week, over corresponding periods last season. The weekly stock report posted yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce shows that for the week ended yesterday 21,183 bales were received here as against only 16,422 during a corresponding period last season. Since September 1st, the number of bales received has been 262,818 against 198,114 up to the same date in 1906. The exports for the week just ended were 19,050 bales, of which 18,650 bales were foreign and 400 bales domestic. Last year the same week the exports were only 14,143 bales, all foreign. The exports since September 1st at Wilmington have been 223,469 foreign and 2,008 domestic against only 177,598 both domestic and foreign up to the same date last year.

Yesterday the local market reached 10 1-2 cents for middling in response to repeated advances for two days on the New York spot market. The receipts for the day were 2,991 bales against 3,399 same day last year. Of the receipts yesterday 59 bales were via the steamer City of Fayetteville and 31 bales via the steamer C. W. Lyon, from upper Cape Fear points.

The weekly stock report of naval stores shows receipts of 273 casks of spirits against 319 same week last year; 817 barrels rosin against 1,953 last year; 710 barrels tar against 434 barrels last year, and 501 barrels crude against 139 last year. The receipts for the crop year show a slight falling off in all items except crude turpentine.

The twenty-second cargo of cotton for foreign export this season was cleared yesterday on the British steamer Edernian. It consists of 12,427 bales valued at $745,000 and is consigned by Alexander Sprunt & Son to Bremen, Germany.

The tug Alexander Jones cleared yesterday morning from Southport with the schooners Eliza A. Scribner and Bayard Hopkins, both light for Georgetown, S. C. The schooners brought cargo to Wilmington and go the South Carolina port for lumber.

FUNERAL OF MR. W. A. FRENCH.

Impressive Services Held Yesterday From Late Residence.

In the presence of a large assemblage of friends and sorrowing relatives, impressive funeral services were conducted at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning from the residence, No. 107 South Fourth street, over the remains of the late Mr. William A. French, whose sudden death near Florence, S. C., on Wednesday morning was such a shock to the community. The services were by Rev. Fred D. Hale, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, assisted by the Rev. A. W. Seebrease, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal parish. A select choir rendered the funeral hymns which were touching and very pretty. A large number of handsome floral tributes were laid on the casket by loving hands and after the services at the home, the remains were tenderly borne to Oakdale cemetery where all that was mortal of this good man were laid to rest.

The pall-bearers were as follows: Honorary, Messrs. Jas. W. Collins, Duncan McEachern, John S. Armstrong, Clayton Giles, Dr. W. J. H. Bellamy, Capt. L. S. Belden, Capt. J. Alves Walker and Capt Walter G. MacRae; active, Messrs. W. P. Toomer, R. H. Pickett, P. Q. Moore, L. H. Burnett, W. C. Smith, I. C. Loftin, W. G. Herring and Dr. Chas. T. Harper.

On Wednesday of the coming week at that place he will lead to the altar in marriage Miss Edith Ike, daughter of Mr. Joseph Ike, of Whitehall, and one of the most attractive young women of the county. They will come to Wilmington the following day and make their home in this city, where the groom is well and favorably known.

RALEIGH NEWS NOTES

Sheriff of Harnett First to Settle State Taxes With The Treasurer.

NO LIQUOR IN DINING CARS

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 22.—Sheriff J. B. Lanier, the new sheriff of Harnett county, wins the distinction this year of being the first sheriff in all the State to settle with the State Treasurer for all taxes due by Harnett county to the State. Heretofore Johnston has won this distinction nearly every year. The exact amount of taxes due the State by any county has not been ascertained yet, but Sheriff Lanier in his zeal to win this honor for first settlement, made a liberal estimate and paid in an ample amount, allowing, in fact a sufficient sum for it to be necessary for him to have a refund a little later. The amount he paid was $8,400.

In connection with the order promulgated yesterday by the authorities of the Seaboard Air Line for discontinuing the service of liquors in dining cars of the line in North Carolina, it is claimed by temperance advocates hereabouts that the reason is that many men addicted to drink and residing in dry towns had come to make a practice of boarding a train and riding to some neighboring station, solely for the purpose of getting into the dining car to load up with drink to the disgust and discomfort of regular passengers; in fact, that it was coming to pass that the dining cars of the line were to all intents and purposes bar rooms on wheels.

Professor Collier Cobb, of the University of North Carolina, W. A. Blair, of Winston-Salem, George Rountree, of Wilmington, and a number of other prominent citizens are here for the purpose of organizing a North Carolina Harvard University Alumni Association there being about sixty-five Harvard alumni in this State. Not all of them, by any means, are native North Carolinians. Professor Cobb says much interest is being manifested in the movement by Harvard men.

Professor Cobb says that when he and Congressman J. H. Small called yesterday on President Roosevelt in Washington relative to the importance of the inland waterway inside Hatteras, the President in greeting said to Professor Cobb: "Carolina's victories in football ought to console you for Harvard's defeat. Carolina certainly has a crack eleven."

Eight new local tax districts for the improvement of public schools are reported to the State Department of Education indicating the steady progress in school improvement the State over. They are, Ashe 2, Columbus 1, Cleveland 1, Wake 2, Robeson 1, Durham 1, Wilkes 1. The Department authorizes and sets aside the State apportionment for five new rural schools libraries: Harnett 2, and one each in Edgecombe, Caswell, Haywood and Ashe.

The United Sons and Daughters of Charity, of Federal Point, New Hanover county, is chartered for mutual benefit purposes, Enoch Hansley and others being the incorporators.

The executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of the A. & M. College tonight accepted the resignation of Charles M. Conner, chair of Agriculture, to take effect January 1st. No successor is selected. Conner retires to accept a government appointment as assistant commissioner of agriculture in the Philippine Islands at a salary of $3,600 per annum. He came here from Clemson College a year ago.

APPEAL TO THE UNSAVED.

Evangelist Violett Speaks With Great Power at Tabernacle.

Thursday night at the Tabernacle, Seventh and Orange streets, Evangelist Violett preached a masterly sermon on the text: "Go Thy Way, Some More Convenient Day I Will Call for Thee." It was based on the defence of Paul made before Felix as recorded in the 29th chapter of Acts. He showed how Paul reasoned with Felix on righteousness, self control and judgment to come. As he pictured the scene in his eloquent and vivid way, one could almost see the terror written upon the face of Felix and the effect it had upon him. He showed how it would be improbable for a man like Felix to find a convenient time to give up his unlawful wife, Drusilla, his life of sin and shame; yea, even his throne. That time never came to the King and he went down to an awful destiny. He pictured the awfulness of one procrastinating when they see their duty. There were five additions to the church at the close of the service, making 56 to date and many more almost persuaded.

Prof. Marks led the most inspiring and thrilling song service of the meeting, rendering a touching solo, which prepared the hearts of the people for the sermon. Services will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock. All are invited.

K. OF P. DISTRICT MEETING

Hon. Geo. C. Cabell, Supreme Representative of Virginia, to Speak. Committee of Arrangements Last Night—Oyster Roast.

The joint committee from the four Wilmington lodges to make all arrangements for the Pythian District Meeting in this city on Monday evening, December 2nd, met last night in Castle Hall and tentatively agreed upon a programme for this big event for the Knights of this section of Eastern North Carolina. Nine lodges outside of Wilmington have advised that they will send between 150 and 200 delegates and the gathering is expected to be the largest of its kind yet held in this section.

It was announced at the meeting of the committee that the Hon. Geo. C. Cabell, a leading attoney of the Norfolk bar and representative from Virginia to the Supreme Lodge, will be a distinguished visitor and will make an address upon the occasion. He goes to Raleigh on the Sunday preceding to deliver the annual Elks' memorial address and comes to Wilmington the following day. Supreme Representative T. S. Franklin, mayor of Charlotte; Grand Chancellor W. C. Crist, of Winston, and Grand Vice Chancellor T. H. Webb, of Dunn, N. C., with possibly Grand Keeper of Records and Seals Hollowell, of Goldsboro, will also be in attendance.

Upon the arrival of the delegates Monday afternoon they will be taken by the committee of arrangements for a trolley ride to the Sound with an oyster roast either there or on the beach. They will return in time for the meeting at night which will be held in Castle Hall, third floor of the Murchison National Bank Building. A number of entertaining features are being arranged in addition to the addresses by the distinguished visitors.

At the meeting of the committee last night the following were present: Capt. T. D. Meares and W. H. Yopp, Stonewall Lodge No. 1; W. C. Von Glahn and J. P. Quelch, Clarendon No. 2; E. Schulken and F. W. Bonitz, Germania Lodge No. 4; W. R. Taylor and W. H. Brown, Jefferson No. 61. Of the committee Capt. Meares was elected chairman and Mr. Bonitz secretary.

District Deputy L. B. Rogers was also in attendance upon the meeting of the committee and took part in the proceedings. He issued an official call for the meeting several days ago and all the lodges are preparing to be well represented here.

ACTIVITY AT BOLTON

Messrs. James C. Womack and Hugh Schwartz returned yesterday morning from Bolton, N. C., where they have been constructing a telephone line for the Waccamaw Lumber Company from Bolton, N. C., to its logging camps in the famous Green swamp lands in Brunswick and Columbus counties. They speak most interestingly of the wonderful development that is going on there in connection with the building of the large mill and railroad of the Waccamaw people Eight of the eighteen miles of the standard railroad line through the timber lands has been completed and the work is being pushed with all possible dispatch by a force of something like 100 Italians under Contractor Antonio Ross. All new 45-pound rail is being put down and those who have seen the line say that it is not built merely as a lumber road but they believe it will be ultimately extended to Southport. It is made standard in every respect and is heading toward the lower Cape Fear city.

The big mill is not yet under construction but all the foundations have been laid and it is easy to be seen that this is going to be one of the largest mills in this section. At present only cypress shingles are being turned out by the company at Bolton but hundreds of people are at work on the railway line and on the new mill. A large office building and quarters for the employes of the company have already been put up and a large hotel is one of the enterprises that the Waccamaw people have brought to the town. It is stated that headquarters of the Waccamaw Lumber Company, which recently purchased the Chadbourn mill in Wilmington, will move to Bolton early in the new year.

LIGHTSHIP REMOVED

Sailing Masters Say That Enough Notice Has Not Been Given.

Sailing masters arriving in port during the past few days are complaining that the chart position of the Frying Pan Lightship has been changed without due notice to mariners to a position twelve miles from its former station. Several masters of vessels arriving within the past two or three days, say they were much confused upon arriving off the coast and taking the light to be in the same position as formerly. The United States Buoy Tender Wistaria has been in these waters several days rebuilding certain range lights and replacing buoys. Commander Rodman, U. S. N., inspector of this district, was on board the tender giving his personal attention to the work. He was in charge of the re-location of the lightship.

CALENDAR ARRANGED

One Week Term of New Hanover Superior Court to Convene Monday Week.

TRIAL OF CIVIL CAUSES ONLY

Bar of City Met Yesterday at Office of Clerk—No Very Important Cases For Trial—Negro Church Controversy.

The bar of the city met yesterday morning at the office of Col. Jno. D. Taylor, Clerk of the Superior Court, and agreed upon the cases for trial at the one-week term of New Hanover Superior Court for the trial of civil causes only, convening in this city, Judge J. Crawford Biggs presiding, on Monday, December 2nd. Forty-five cases were agreed to be set for trial at this term and their arrangement on the several days of the week was referred to a committee composed of Attorneys B. G. Empie, W. P. Gafford and L. V. Grady. These met in the afternoon at the office of the clerk and arranged the calendar as follows:

Mondaf—Armstrong Cator & Co., vs W. S. C. Railroad.; Pittsburg Lumber Company against Z. P. Rowe; A. O. Jennings & Co. against J. T. Smith, Carbonic Company against Turrentine. W. A. Davis against Vance Cottle. F. W. Stock & Co., aaginst Murchison National Bank. Gaston D. Phares & Co., against Mrs. S. Siegler, two cases. J. G. Foreman against Consolidated Company. Richard Dammon against A. C. L. Railroad Company. Chadbourn Sash Door & Lumber Co., vs I. Shrier.

Thursday—Behrends-Riley Furniture Co., against Atlantic Coast Line, two cases. C. D. Maffitt against Capt. Hammersland and A. S. Heide. Standard Supply Co., against Finch & Person. R. H. Martin against Annie Martin. Griffith Brothers against W. A. Wilson, Jr.

Saturday — Ottenheim Brothers against Bremer & McMillan. Erie City Iron Works aginst Standard Supply Co. P. C. Smith and others against J. H. Rhoe and others. W. L. Kure aaginst R. R. Stone. Frank Herbst against Mrs. Annie M. Noble. W. L. Smith and others against J. D. Sidbury.

It will be noted that there are no cases of very great interest for trial at this term. The cases of Pittsburg Lumber Company against Z. P. Rowe, a former employe, for an alleged indebtedness, was once before tried but the jury so qualified the verdict that it was set aside by the judge presiding. The civil proceedings against Rev. J. H. Rhoe, colored, by P. C. Smith and other belligerent members of the congregation is for possession of the property of the First Baptist Church, colored, of this city, the minority faction opposed to the pastor having been unable in their previous efforts to get possession of the church and to accomplish the overthrow of Rhoe. This will be one of the most interesting cases of the term if it is reached. Then there are a number of penalty suits against the transportation companies, mainly coming up on appeal from the magistrates' courts. While there are no important cases set for trial the term will be quite busy in disposing of the 45 cases that are set for a hearing.

BOTH MEN HELD.

Crews and His Son Who Assaulted Mr. J. O. Grimes in His Store.

T. H. Crews and his son, Marvin Crews, charged with assaulting Mr. J. O. Grimes, in his store in East Wilmington on Tuesday night, were each bound to the higher court after waiving preliminary examination before Justice John J. Furlong yesterday morning. They were represented by Herbert McClammy, Esq., and gave the bond with Mr. W. H. McEachern as surety in the sum of $25 each. The arrest of the two men was made by Sheriff Cowan and Deputy Sheriff W. H. Cox the day after the affray. Mr. Grimes secured the warrants for the men. By a transposition of the names it was made to appear yesterday that Mr. Grimes was brought to the city by the officer, but such was not the case, there being no charge against him.

LABOR TAKEN CARE OF IN THE SOUTH.

It is rather curious that isolated instances, and oftimes no instance at all, are seized upon by somebody to misrepresent the whole South. Miss Quackenboss, a female lawyer connected with the Department of Justice at Washington, furnishes us an illustration in her alleged "peonage discoveries" how injury can be afflicted upon a whole section without any foundation in general.

The best answer to the slanders is found in the real treatment of employes in the South. There never has been a time when their interests and welfare were so guarded, for they are valuable, they are wealth producers, and it is natural that they should be treated fairly. The Baltimore Sun has a strong answer in this editorial, if answer were needed to the question of how labor is treated in the South:

"Mr. August Kohn, in a series of articles in the Charleston News and Courier, to which The Sun has already made reference, is presenting the South Carolina cotton mills in a very different light from that to which the country is accustomed. While people in several countries of Europe are being warned by their public officials to beware of emigrating to the South because of alleged peonage and the bad treatment of labor in the Southern mills, Mr. Kohn is showing that the conduct of the millowners toward their operatives is almost uniformly benevolent, helpful and uplifting. He declares that the cotton mill in South Carolina has been a civilizing influence. The milling companies have been for years spending money lavishly in supporting schools for the education of the mill children, and that policy began at a time when the State schools were not near so good as they are now. Now they are supplementing this educational work with what Mr. Kohn terms "welfare work" in various directions. The mills give lots when they are wanted for churches and contribute systematically one-tenth of the cost of the buildings. The work of the Young Men's Christian Association among the mill people is encouraged; lyceums and libraries are established and maintained. In addition to these religious, moral and educational agencies, there is declared to be a generous expediture for amusements, such as swimming pools and bowling alleys. There has been no manner of compulsion upon the milling corporations to do these things They are done because it is right to do them, and broadminded business men understand that it pays to do them. The corporation is not for today merely. It is supposed to be immortal, and in order to obtain the greatest measure of success it is essential that the operatives shall be intelligent, healthful and contented. Therefore, these broadminded Southern business men have done what they could to elevate their employes to the highest attainable standards. In order that in successive years this high standard shall be maintained, it is essential to care for the children who are to be the mill operatives in the future. It has been found to pay the mills to provide good, comfortable and healthy homes for the men and women who work in the mill, where they can rear healthy children and provide wholesome food, and it has been found a paying investment to provide schools where the future operatives can be educated. The public schools have now supplied every need and it is found best for mill children to mingle with the others without any line of distinction, but it is said that the mills still contribute generously to the support of the schools."

The favorable conditions in the South Carolina mills also prevail in those of North Carolina, and they are always improving.

GOOD TIMES IN 1908.

Don't let us lose our nerve during the 1907 panic, which evidently must be the shortest lived panic of all those experienced in this country. The conditions seem to be against any prolonged money stringency but no doubt the high water mark in prices has been reached and there must be a recession in that particular. The simple fact of the matter is that the cost of living had reached a point beyond the increase in salaries and wages that would make things even up. With cotton bringing good prices in the South and wheat in demand and selling at the highest price for many years, the country is in a position to anticipate more good times. There may be a lessening of the demand for some of our manufactured products, but it is not believed that the slackening will last long. Confidence needs to get back to normal and we like to see good reasons given why it should quickly come back. Here are some from the Washington Post:

"Comparisons of causes and conditions of the present monetary and commercial disturbance with the causes and conditions of those of 1873 and 1893 demonstrate with absolute certainty that we are nearing the end of this depression.

"There has been no recent retirement of greenbacks as preceded 1873, nor demonetization of silver, which cut off the supply of money when it was most needed in that same era. There has been no drain of gold from our land such as preceded and followed 1893, no clutching and hoarding of United States Treasury notes, as in the three years which followed. Upon the contrary, there are today in the United States nearly $100,000,000 more in currency than there were two months ago, and with the gold still to arrive from abroad and the increase in our bank circulation, which is being made every day, an additional $100,000,000 will be doing duty within the next sixty days.

"Thanks to the promptness of the Treasury officials and the energy of our financiers, merchants, and bankers the close of 1907 will witness as great an increase of our money volume in four months as came in three years after the panics of 1873 and 1893.

"Money is death to financial panic, and the remedy is at hand and being applied. Europe gives us $75,000,000 in gold in thirty days' time, and, after giving us that great sum, by January 1, 1908, we will have more gold on hand than Europe possessed July 1, 1907. That $75,000,000 only represents the new gold that Africa has produced in six months' time, and Europe has at her command as an increase of her July 1 stock the production of Australia and India. Our own gold mines are producing daily and their product is nearly three times the amount it was in 1893. We keep all our new gold, we re-inforce it with the scores of millions from abroad, and are ready to back that all up with new bank circulation to any extent required.

"The Congress that convenes will quickly respond to the call of the President and the country. The Post is willing to go on record with the prediction that by next April or May the prosperity of the country will be in full swing again, sustained by ample supply of money and unbounded confidence in the future. The flower Safety has been plucked from the nettle Danger.

"The banks and trust companies of Washington, solvent and secure, have given a splendid example to the country of safe and sound banking. They are free from speculation, spoliation, and selfishness. They have carried the fortuness of the community with safety to depositors and with credit and honor to themselves. The days of doubt are over and the immediate future is very encouraging."

CURRENT COMMENT.

—A Southern Congressman says he has decided views on the money question ,but hesitates to express them. Undoubtedly he wants to remain in good standing in the church where he worships.—Washington Post.

—If current rumors are to be credited, the municipal election ordered yesterday by the board of aldermen, on the liquor dispensary or prohibition proposition, will not be finally decided by those who vote in the election. Case for the supreme court, say they.—Raleigh Times.

—Haven't we had most too much Teddy? With Teddy in the White House smashing "In God We Trust," and Teddy Price in the cotton market trying to smash down the price of cotton, haven't we had rather more of Teddy than we wanted?—Raleigh News and Observer.

—But few people know that when deepsea fish are taken from the water their eyes pop from their heads," said E. B. Wynn, of Mobile, at the Tulane. "This is due to being relieved of the tremendous water pressure and coming in contact with air. On the gulf coast where thousands of fish are caught daily one can see hundreds and hundreds of deep water fish with eyes hanging from their sockets."—Nashville Tennesseean.

—A New England Enoch Arden has had an experience somewhat removed from the ordinary. He has just returned from the home he left at the time of the Civil war, to find that his wife had been buried by her third husband. Evidently, this Enoch's wife agreed with the poor London woman who announced that the Boer war, which widowed her, had made hers a happy home.—Raleigh Times.

—One of the rarest birds to New England is here prophesying a cold, hard, winter. It is the red poll, a member of the big junco family of birds. Only in the most severe weather does the red-headed bird venture from the frozen lands of the North, and when it does it always means a cold, severe winter. There are several flocks of the birds in the Fells, and bird lovers, glad to get a chance to watch their habits, are closely observing them.—Boston Record.

—Chicago has a new kink. It is "boiling" eggs without the use of water. This novelty is exploited at one of Chicago's leading hotels, and as the feat is accomplished directly before the eyes of the guest, the new way of cooking generally attracts attention and comment. The waiter places a box-like apparatus before the guest and turns on a little electricity from the bracket on the wall and places the desired number of eggs in the heater. In about a minute and a half, or half the time consumed by the hot-water process, the eggs are cooked to a turn. The process is an idea originated by Prof. Radtke, of Armour Institute.—New York Press.

TWINKLINGS.

—He will Remedy It—"They say his wife has money." "Well, that isn't his fault. They've been married only a short time."—London Opinion.

—Herr Gambrinus—Vy do dey call it T'anksgivin'? Newly Arrived Englishman—I dunno, except it's because so many on 'em tanks up on that day.

—What He Knows—"Does he know much?" "Well, he not only knows that he doesn't know much, but he knows enough to keep others from knowing it."—Exchange.

—Friend—How'd you come to write that "best seller"? The Modern Lit'ry Cent—First, I was struck by a thought, sketchized the epigram, playized the sketch, novelized the play, and advertised the novel!—Puck.

—She—And after we are married, dear, you'll tell me everything that happens, won't you? Cousin Fannie's husband does. He—Well, darling. I'll go Fannie's husband one better. I'll tell you a lot of things that don't happen at all.—Chicago Daily News.

—Carries It to Extremes—Mrs. Baye—She is simply mad on the subject of germs, and sterilizes or filters everything in the house. Mrs. Kaye—How does she get along with her family? "Oh, even her relations are strained."—Exchange.

—"He slept well, and ate a hearty breakfast, apparently wholly unconscious to his fate. He was attired in the conventional black and—" "And what hour did they hang him?" "Hang him? They don't hang a man for getting married! He was the groom, not a condemned criminal."—Puck.

—"What's wrong, old man?" inquired Ascum. "You look rather hagagrd this morning.' "Yes," replied Luschman. "I made a discovery last night that staggered me." "You don't say? what was it?" "A bottle of 10-year-old rye that I didn't know I had."—Philadelphia Press.

Sunday Laws of Australia.

Melbourne, Australia, has some laws which are wonders. One of them prohibits the opening of any cafe on Sunday before 11 o'clock in the morning, and the unwary American who may not know this finds himself suddenly high and dry without a thing to eat till 11. So he soon learns, if he's in lodgings, to sleep till 11 and then forge forth.

Another nice thing that contributes to the hilarity of the Sundays here and the gayety of nations generally is that there are no street cars running till after 2 o'clock on Sundays. All the steam roads bring thousands of people into the city, but they have to walk once they are inside the city limits.

And if you buy baker's cakes and pies to be taken away from the premises you may only buy them between 1 and 3 Sunday afternoons. And you may not invite friends to dinner with you in Sydney, which is in New South Wales and under different jurisdiction, if you are living in a hotel, because in some mysterious way, which is not at all clear, you are breaking the Sunday law.—New York World.

Irish Legal Wits.

The mots of the celebrated wits—Harry Deane Grady, Lysaght and Keller—of the Irish bar early in the last century are now in large measure forgotten. Some few are, however, on record. Harry Deane Grady, a leader of the Munster bar, voted in the Irish house of commons to support the union against the wishes of his constituents, one of whom remonstrated indignantly with him on his intended course of action. "What, do you mean to sell your country?" "Yes," was the cool reply, "and very happy I am to have a country to sell."

Ned Lysaght, a celebrated wit and poetaster of the period in very embarrassed circumstances, applied to Mr. La Touche, the well known banker, for a place in his establishment. "What situation, my dear Lysaght, could possibly suit you?" said his friend, who felt himself in a difficulty. "Not only one, but two," was the reply. "Pray, what are they?" "If you will only, my dear La Touche, make me cashier for one day I'll become runner the next."—London Law Notes.

What a Woman Did.

There is much to be said against the New York cabby, but there are frequent occasions when one is really deserving of sympathy. The other day a cabby drove a well dressed and refined looking woman to a Broadway restaurant, where she ordered an expensive lunch and then told the waiter that she had lost her purse, but that her cab was waiting and if he would send a boy with her she would go home for the money. The boy entered the cab with her, and she directed the cabby to drive to a Sixth avenue department store. When they arrived she left the boy in the cab, entered the store to make an imaginary purchase and went out at the opposite entrance. In the hope of getting information about his departed fare, cabby drove back to the restaurant, accompanied by the brass buttoned boy, whom he blackguarded all the way for letting the woman escape. The restaurant people discharged the lad for the same reason, and the driver cried quits.—New York Times.

Gladstone Nicknames.

A collection of the nicknames that were from time to time conferred upon Mr. Gladstone would be a fine dictionary of epithets alike of love and dislike. Besides such perennials as the Grand Old Man, "the G. O. M." and the People's William we recall the Franchise Bill, the Pope of England, St. William the Woodcutter, the Mahdi of Midlothian, the Old Parliamentary Hand, the People's Will, Mr. Merrypebble, the Ancient Senator, Youart the Man, Hawarden Bill, Prime Billy, W. G., the Only William and the Old Gentleman. At one time his name was a favorite theme for Christmas charades, among which may be remembered the following elegant outburst of a Conservative wit: "I should be my first if I could throw my second at my whole."

The Marble Bible.

In 1857 Mindon-min, king of Burma, erected a monument near Mandalay called the Kutho-daw. There he built 700 temples, in each of which there is a slab of white marble. Upon these 700 slabs is engraved the whole of the Buddhist Bible, a vast literature in itself, equal to about six copies of the Holy Scriptures. This marble Bible is engraved in the Pali language, thought to be that spoken by Buddha himself 500 B. C.

Very Likely.

"You're a queer looking thing to want to fight with me," said the young bulldog contemptuously. "You're not in my class."

"Perhaps not," replied the porcupine quietly, "but I think I can give you a few points."—Philadelphia Press.

Making Things Even.

Customer (to watchmaker) — I told you that my watch lost half an hour every day, and now that you've repaired it it gains half an hour. Watchmaker — Well, don't complain. It's only working to catch up lost time.

Judicious Charity.

"I don't believe he is so miserly as they say. I hear he invites his poor relations to visit him each year."

"Yes. They all live at a considerable distance and are too poor to come."

Sure.

THE AUTOMOBILE RACES.

Although rain is predicted by the Weather Bureau today, the forecast covering all of North Carolina, it is hoped and believed that with the falling temperature, the conditions will be favorable locally for the automobile meet which is scheduled to take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Wrightsville Beach and in which event there is very general interest on the part of the people of Wilmington.

A very large crowd is expected to attend the races and the Consolidated Company, anticipating an unusually heavy travel, has announced that cars will be run every half hour during the afternoon with ample accomodations for the crowds after the races are over. There are four principal events, one for Ford runabouts, one for Maxwells and a match race between the first and the second in the other two races. A handsome gold medal has been offered by Honnett to the car making the best time in the match race while on the side cash prizes amounting to $50 are offered. The fourth event will be a one mile race, flying start, open to all cars.

Among the Maxwells to be entered are the machines of Messrs. Frank Herbst, William M. Bellamy, H. F. Wilder and Louis T. Moore, while the Ford people will be represented in that event by Messrs. John E. Platt, Fred Dock and A. B. Skelding. These with other machines that will be entered were dismantled yesterday and will be shipped on freight cars from Ninth and Orange streets at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The forecast for the wind is light to fresh northeast to north and upon the course of the breeze and condition of the beach will very largely depend whether the machines will race from Lumina to the Hotel Tarrymoore or vice versa and over what course. This will be determined and announced before the races upon arrival at the beach this afternoon.

Burke H. Bridgers, Esq., will be clerk of the course and the other officials of the race will be Messrs. Benj. Bell, Jr., George Davis and Louis B. Hatch. There will also probably be a race between 20-horse power Maxwells of which type there are five in the city.

MORE MOB LAW.

Suppose representatives of the liquor interests or of labor unions, or of corporations, had stormed the Alabama legislature, packed the galleries, crowded into the seats of members and by demonstrations of hissing and applause sought to influence the action of the house? Everybody would have called it mob law and anarchy and protests would have been universal. Yet women—and Southern women, at that—women of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, supposed to be the exponents of law and order and peace and purity and propriety, did these things in behalf of a prohibition law. Other women who were coming up from Mobile to protest against the law literally were crowded out and denied any voice or hearing. If men did anything like that it would be called violence and incendiarism. We cannot see that an outrage of the kind is made any better by the fact that it is done in behalf of a cause supposed to be a good one and people supposed to be the very of the earth. Also we have rathismal forebodings regarding the and enforcement of the rn States may take a hand in ch very violent whip and spur. rdly wonder that the city of hich has established one of chool systems in the coung the proceeds of liquor which has been denied nsideration, thinks seri- ng and joining itself to e.

—The steamer City of Fayetteville arrived in port yesterday from the upper Cape Fear but will not clear before today, waiting for inspection by the government officials who arrived yesterday to inspect this boat and the Isabel.

—The Worth Company desires it stated that it does not and never did own the sick horse which the city found to be a "White elephant on its hands" after the animal had been impounded a few days ago as described in yesterday's paper. At last accounts the horse was still on the city's hands and the rightful owner was being sought out.

PROHIBITION CAMPAIGN

Evangelist Ham, who is leading the campaign for prohibition in Wilmington, last night addressed between 300 and 400 people from the City Hall steps just before the hour for the regular services at the First Baptist church at 8 o'clock. While the crowd was larger last night than at any of the previous open-air meetings the responses for signers to the petition calling the election were fewer, though many in the audience held up their hands to signify that they had already signed the call. Mr. Ham announced that the anti-saloon committee had already secured more than a thousand names to the petition but the effort would be continued for 1,500 signers. He devoted a larger part of his address to the financial side of the question under discussion but also gave considerable attention to the moral issue involved. He had no patience with the argument that for business reasons the election should not be called now and told an amusing anecdote at the expense of those who wanted to defer action because of the financial unrest.

It is stated that Mr. Ham will remain in the city only as long as the revival meeting lasts but he may come back later. Yesterday he accepted an invitation to help out with the campaign against the dispensary in favor of prohibition in Raleigh and will be there during the month of December He will also probably go to Salisbury to assist in the fight there. He announced last night that 1,500 men were expected at the big mass meeting for men only at the First Baptist Church Sunday night.

MRS. S. T. RAMSEY DEAD.

Succumbed to Fearful Burns Received Last Saturday Morning.

Mrs. Samuel T. Ramsey, who was so fearfully burned last Saturday morning at her home, 1206 South Fifth street, as the result of dropping the bowl of a kerosene lamp upon a hot stove about which she was at work at breakfast time, succumbed to her injuries yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the James Walker Memorial Hospital to which she was taken soon after the accident. It was hoped that the life of Mrs. Ramsey would be spared as she lingered so much longer than was expected at first, but within the past few days unfavorable symptoms developed and in spite of all that could be done for her, death came to end her suffering at the hour named.

Mrs. Ramsey is survived by her husband and one little daughter, four years old, of this city, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cooker, of Southport. They have the tenderest sympathy of all in the bereavement that is theirs. The parents will arrive in the city this morning and the funeral will be conducted from the late residence on South Fifth street, after which the remains will be laid to rest in Bellevue cemetery.

THE FOUR PICKERTS

Popular Prices All Next Week at the Academy of Music.

Commencing Monday night the Academy will offer another popular price attraction. It will be the company of the Four Pickerts, who are favorites in Wilmington, and the engagement should prove a big one. No doubt it will do so. For the inaugural event a play of fine calibre has been selected, one alive with comedy yet with plenty of stirring dramatic actions, and between acts will be presented the clever specialties that have added so much to the popularity of the company.

Popular prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents, will prevail during the engagement, and seats for Monday night's performance will go on sale at Plummer's this morning.

Is the Nation Becoming Abstinent?

Is the nationa becoming abstinent? The Federal revenue reports show a steadily increasing per capita consumption each of malt liquors, wines, and distilled spirits, which combined amounted to 22.27 gallons in 1906, as compared with 12.60 gallons in 1884. Can it be that over 40 per cent. of the Nation, that part living in the "dry" areas, is abstinent or decreasing its rate of consumption, while the residents of the "wet" districts are more than doubling theirs? Common sense rejects such an ill-balanced conclusion.

But the owners of distilleries, breweries, and saloons are not a little disturbed over enactments that make their business locally illegal, involving their eviction, and a reorganization of their trade on inter-State lines. Two considerations alone confront them, the fundamental one being that their political enemies fail to prohibit their own thirst. The second consideration is that the prohibitory statutes do exempt the trade from the burden of State and local taxation—in the case of Georgia, it is estimated, by $1,000,000 a year. A mixture of hypocrisy and misdirected zeal, as the good women of Mobile strove vainly to show the Alabama legislators the other day, is depriving the public schools of revenues, the exaction of which has hitherto measurably restricted the liquor traffic.—New York Times 21st.

MARRIED AT FAIR BLUFF.

(Special Star Correspondence)

Fair Bluff, N. C., Nov. 21.—It was a lovely day on the 20th of November 1907, in the beautiful little village of Fair Bluff, situated on the east bank of Lumber river not far from the place where the two sister States join hands in holy union, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Powell at five o'clock P. M. where their lovely and charming daughter, Miss Wannie Powell, was united in marriage to Mr. W. Clyde Renfrow. The occasion was gladdened by the presence of many distinguished friends and relatives. Suitable music was furnished by Miss Ella Jenkins, and the marriage was solemnized by a short ceremony performed by the Rev. S. B. Wilson, pastor of the Baptist Church. Under showers of congratulations from many admiring friends the happy couple rode away to the station. Nature seemed to smile as the Sun shut his eyes. The twilight lingered long and the glimmering moon veiled in mists climbed the walls of heaven; then the young couple boarded the train for their future home at Sanford, N. C.

On Saturday following Thanksgiving there will be a Linville foursome and all who expect to enter this are also asked to furnish their names to the captain of the green.

A number of affidavits, etc., were secured yesterday and the petition will come up for a hearing before Judge Biggs next Wednesday at Kenansville.

The case will come up in the Superior Court in this county.

GOV. GLENN IN WASHINGTON.

Says Legislature Will Enact Prohibition for North Carolina.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov. 22.—Christian Workers, representing many lands, gathered here today in attendance upon the thirty-sixth international convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of North America. The convention was formally opened at Contiuental Hall at 10 o'clock this morning and will continue for four days. Delegates from all parts of America, England, Canada, Japan and other countries are present.

The great gathering will be addressed during its progress by a number of distinguished men, among them being James Bryce, the British Ambassador; William Jennings Bryan; Governor R. B. Glenn, of North Carolina; Secretary Strauss, of the Department of Commerce and Labor; Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, of New York; Commissioner of Immigration, of New York, Watchorn; Bishop Logan H. Boots, of China, and others.

The opening session today began with "A quiet hour," led by Rev. Floyd W. Tompkins, rector of the Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal church, of Philadelphia.

The afternoon session was held in Convention Hall, the largest public gathering place in the city, when the delegates were formally welcomed by District Commissioner H. F. B. MacFarland. A historic gavel was presented to the convention by Delegates from Panama, following which Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst delivered an address.

Tonight in convention hall, "praise service" was held followed by addresses by Mr. Bryce, the British Ambassador, on some features of the Y. M. C. A. movement with special reference to the work in America, and by Governor Glenn, of North Caroliea, on "The Nation's Need of Strong Christian Young Men."

Governor Glenn spoke of the great need in this age of Christian young men, especially in the various professions and trades. Governor Glenn attributed the material prosperity which this country today enjoys to the Christian spirit which pervaded it from one section to the other. The governor referred to the great temperance crusade which has swept over some of the Southern States and declared that at the next meeting of the Legislature of North Carolina that Sate would follow suit by driving out the liquor trade.

SMUTTING TOM JOHNSON

Charged Yith Fleezing Brooklyn Papid Transit.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 22.—William M. Ivins, while investigating the affairs of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company for the Public Service Commission today, declared that Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, and his friends who formerly owned the Nassau Electric Railway Company of Brooklyn, had watered its stock to the extent of $6,250,000 and then sold it to the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company. This was alleged to have taken place in a re-organization of the Nassau Company in January 1899.

Questioning Timothy S. Williams, vice president of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, about the re-organization of the Nassau Company, Mr. Ivins said:

"On that re-organization I find that they increased their bond issue which had heretofore been $5,500,000 by an additional $8,846,000.

They made an entirely new issue of preferred stock of $6,000,000, they theretofore having no preferred stock, and theretofore issuing $6,000,000 of common stock, they added $2,500,000 making a total of new issue of $17,946,000, and your acquisition was after this increase of capitalization. Can you tell me what these new securities were issued for?"

Mr. Williams said an explation of the transaction was given in an agreement which Mr. Ivins had but this was not read. Mr. Williams also contended that the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, if it had bought $6,250,000 of water, had subsequently squeezed it out.

"I cannot agree with you," said Mr. Ivins, "it looks to me like a plain case of stock watering and the company had no right to charge that $6,000,000 on its books to the cost and equipment of the road. It was wrong in principle and if it was not then against the law, the law ought to be amended so as to make such a transaction impossible."

WHISKEY FRAUDS IN VIRGINIA.

Large Distiller Indicted for Defrauding Government.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Danville, Vo., Nov. 22.—The Federal grand jury, which has been investigating for the past ten day the frauds on the government, returned three indictments this afternoon against G. W. Richardson, a large distiller of Henry county, chrging him with removing and concealing spirits, illicit distilling and for failing to make proper returns on the books at his distillery. B. L. Howard, the storekeeper and gauger, was also indicted on several counts for collusion to defraud the government.

The parties will be arraigned before court next week. The grand jury was discharged today until Monday, when the investigation, which is sweeping in its character, will be continued.

At Bloomington, Ill., yesterday Edgar N. Jennings, for twelve years a coachman in the employ of John C. Stevenson, a capitalist, attempted to shoot Mr. Stevenson. The latter seized the revolver aimed at his head and fought his assailant until help arrived. Jennings was finally overpowered and locked up. It is believed that Jennings became suddenly demented. Mr. Stevenson is a brother of the former Vice President of the United States, Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson.

TREASURY CERTIFICATES

New York Banks Will Subscribe Liberally—$100,000,000 of Gold.

(By Wire to the Morn ng Star.)

New York, Nov. 22.—The extent to which the New York banks will subscribe to the new issue of Treasury certificates is not yet definitely fixed, but it is expected that there will be liberal participation when a full understanding is secured as to the uses to which the certificates may be applied. Now, however, it is the accepted view in banking circles that the certificates can be utilized as a basis for circulation but not for bank reserves. The advantage of this use of the new issue for circulation purposes is very great, not only as a banking transaction but as a means of relieving the stringency as felt by the public since the bank note circulation will speedily get into public use and thus put an end to the present premium on money.

The flow of gold into the country continues to be heavy, largely because the recent premium on currency induced money speculators to import foreign gold for the profit of the transaction.

Today's engagement totalled $7,800,000, which with previous engagements carries the total for the last few weeks to an aggregate far in excess of any gold importation in the history of American finance. Wall street financiers are predicting that the present influx of gold from Europe will amount to more than $100,000,000 before it is concluded. The figures are but little more than $15,000,000 short of that amount now.

Rice In the Salt.

There is no denying the fact that salt will not run out of a shaker in humid weather. It is a very clever mineral; knows enough to stay in when it rains. There is no better barometer. The best thing ever known to cause the salt to run is rice. Heat a teaspoonful of rice on the stove and put it in the salt shaker with the salt. The hot rice quickly absorbs all the moisture and the salt issues forth as dry as the sands of the desert. Twenty grains of rice are sufficient for a small shaker. Although it has only pinholes in the top, the salt will not pack in the most humid weather.—New York Press.

A Peripatetic Investment.

When the scallop is full grown it is able to swim with great rapidity by opening and closing the valves of its shell. This curious fact, says What to Eat, was unknown to an unfortunate Frenchman who undertook a few years ago to establish a scallop plantation on a quiet New England beach. He deposited several thousand scallops in shallow water, expecting them to breed, but when he looked for them the next day all of them had fled.

"Don't be so lazy. There's plenty of room at the top, and you're clever enough to get there."

"But," replied the lazy genius, "think how clever it is of me to find a place at the bottom, where there isn't so much room."

Her Note Was Final.

The proprietor of a large drug store recently received this curt and haughty note written in an angular feminine hand: "I do not want vasioline, but glisserine. Is that plain enough? I persoom you can spell."

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Wilmington people testify to permanent cures.

R. A. Biddle, clerk at 19 Market street, residing at 606 Castle street, Wilmington, N. C., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills myself for kidney trouble and my wife who suffered from backache also used them. I never knew anything to act so quickly. I have suffered for quite a long time with my back and kidneys. The kidney secretions were very dark and full of sediment. My wife also complained of her back, and when we read of Doan's Kidney Pills in our newspapers I went to R. R. Bellamy's drug store and got a box. We used them with best of results. In my case the kidney secretions cleared up and the pains left my back. We have neither of us complained since taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and it is with pleasure that I recommend them at every opportunity."

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—An unknown negro was run over and killed Thursday night by a shifting engine on the yards of the Southern Railway at Asheville.

—Fayetteville, Nov. 20.—The handsome $250,000 First Baptist and Hay Street Methodist churches are progressing rapidly in construction. Of the former only the interior work remains to be done, and the congregation hopes to worship under its roof early in 1908.

—Newbern, N. C., Nov. 20.—Employes of the J. L. Roper Lumber Company were notified today of a reduction in wages. Those receiving $2.50 per day will be cut down to $2.20 Those receiving $2.20 will have $1.50 and a corresponding reduction is made in every department and at all the operating mills of the company.

—Newbern Journal: The transfer of fish from the Morehead train to the Norfolk train is becoming quite an important transaction and if these shipments of fish grow much larger the company will have to put on another car for the handling of the fish alone. Yesterday there were 87 boxes transferred here, all being consigned to Norfolk.

—Whiteville News Reporter: We are pleased to note that the new building, on the Court house Square, just completed by Mr. J. R. Maxwell is now occupied by the Maxwell Drug Company. Mr. Maxwell is a native of Whiteville but for many years has been a resident of Georgia and Florida where he was an extensive naval stores operator. After having accumulated quite a fortune in the above named business, he retired from the same and returned to Whiteville last Jnauary.

—Charlotte News: Mr. J. W. Wiley, who has been connected with the circulation department of The News for the past year, has resigned his position and will manage the Hotel Kirkland at McColl, S. C. The hotel Kirkland is a very popular little commercial house and enjoys a good patronage and no doubt will be a great success under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley. Mr. Wiley has been a faithful worker while connected with the News and his many friends wish for him much success in his new field of work.

—Mount Airy, Nov. 21.—There is a falling off in price of leaf tobacco in every section, Mount Airy coming in line with the other markets. The decline has not been great, but it is certain, and the farmers are doing wrong in forcing their leaf on the maket. By the time the financial difficulty is over prices will be all right. By that time the manufacturers will be ready for the leaf and will be able to pay reasonable prices for it. It seems the greatest folly to push the leaf on the market now, except in rare cases, where the farmer has to sell his little handful to get bread and meat.

—Winston-Salem, Nov. 20.—Annie Cobb, a negress who killed Henrietta Stamps, also colored, last Saturday, was captured today in Davie county. She will be the first woman ever tried in this county for murder. Before the murder Lucky Lash, of this place, was tried in Stokes or Surry county and convicted of being implicated with Frank Lash, in the murder of the woman's husband, Eli Lash. Lucy and Frank Lash were hanged in the western part of the city. During their trial, it was brought out that Eli Lash was killed with an axe, and that his wife and Frank Lash threw the body in a mill pond.

—Charlotte Observer: Mr. C. Gresham, the king of Southern hotel men, was in the city yesterday, on his way to Mount Airy, Ga., where he is rebuilding his burned hostelry. Mr. and Mrs. Gresham and son, Berkley, will spend the winter here, stopping with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gresham. "How many hotels have you?" asked an Observer man of Mr. Gresham, yesterday "Nineteen." "Where are they?" "Fayetteville, two at Florence, two at Charleston, Asheville, Knoxville, Richmond, South Rocky Mount, Atlanta, Columbia, Lawrence, Greenville, Spartanburg, Rock Hill, and Hamlet. All but one of them are making money."

—Durham, Nov. 21.—Jones & Frasier, Inc., jewelers, went into the hands of a receiver today. Mr. W. J. Griswold was appointed as receiver, this being done by Judge J. Crawford Biggs. He gave bond in the sum of $10,000, as trustee. The firm had been financially embarrassed for several weeks. It is stated that the company owes a little more than $13,000 and that the assets amount to about $30,000. The statement is made that the inability of the firm to collect money due and the pressing of claims by parties to whom the firm is indebted caused the collapse in the business. This is one of the oldest jewelry houses in this section. The firm has done a big business, but has a great deal of stuff on the books.

—Fayetteville, Nov. 20.—The funeral services took place yesterday over the remains of Mrs. Holly Ann Faircloth, aged 67 years, widow of the late Samuel Faircloth, who was for years sexton of Cross Creek Cemetery, and was also formerly on the police force. Faircloth had his hand in the collar of Charles Beebe, a mulatto, when the latter was shot and instantly killed on Market Square in 1867, just after he had been committed by Magistrate Duncan G. MacRae for an atrocious crime, which brought about the unjust imprisonment of MacRae and the famous Tolar trial at Raleigh, during the military government of Canby, in which the late Ed Graham Haywood prosecuted, and the late Judge T. C. Fuller defended the prisoner.

When anybody agrees with you he has opinions; when he doesn't, delusions.

Buck Briggs' Slowness.

By LULU JOHNSTON.

Copyrighted, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.

Sally loitered along looking into the shop windows. All the hot day she had bent over the clacking machine until eyes and back and head alike ached from the noise and strain. The other girls had hurried from the shop when the gong had struck. Some of them had engagements for trolley rides for the evening and were in a hurry to be dressed and off. Others made haste to reach home for supper. Sally had neither of these reasons for haste. Her thin, white face did not attract the few men she knew. They never invited her anywhere, and the streets were at least cooler than the stuffy little room that she called home.

She knew that presently she must make her coffee and fry her single chop over the tiny oil stove that filled the room with the reeking odor of oil, but by walking slowly she delayed that time as long as possible.

She gave a little gasp as she came before the installment bazaar windows. Instead of the rolls of wall paper and carpets, the "nobby" parlor sets and iron bedsteads, the four big windows of the store were got up to represent the four rooms of a flat, a card in each window stating the cost of the equipment to be $10 down and $5 a month for an unspecified time.

Sally passed from the plush elegance of the parlor to the simplicity of the bedroom and the cozy dining room with a real sideboard, but it was against the glass inclosing the kitchen that she flattened her pudgy nose the longest.

The domestic instinct was strong within her, and this array of gleaming pots and pans, the glitter of the cheap china and the plated knives and forks fascinated her. If she only had a kitchen like that, instead of the one burner oil stove on the soap box at the foot of her narrow cot! She drew her breath sharply and exhaled it in a long sigh.

"Nice, ain't it?" Sally looked up in alarm, but there was nothing in the appearance of the man at her side to cause alarm. His twinkling eyes were frank and honest, and not a line of his ruddy, freckled face was sinister. That he was no "masher" could be seen at a glance, and Sally smiled an assent to his question.

"I bet a girl who knew how to cook could get fine dinners in a kitchen like that," he said, a shade of wistfulness in his hearty voice. "If I knew one, by jinks, I'd buy that."

"Huh!" Sally's voice was scornful. She could understand why none of the men at the shop asked her out to trolley rides and things, but for this great, strong fellow to admit his inability to find a sweetheart was absurd.

"It ain't so easy," declared the other notly. "I ain't much with girls. They like fellows better what can dance and say fool things. I ain't never learned either."

"Then you ought to begin now," sniffed Sally as she moved away. The man made as though he would follow, but the broad shoulders hunched together despondently, and he returned to his inspection of the kitchen.

But now he could also see the mistress of the apartment, a slender wisp of a girl, the sort of woman a man wants to take in his arms and cuddle. To him Sally's wan face was beautiful, her thinness elegance. Buck Briggs had met his fate.

The next evening Sally, coming slowly down the street, found him in front of the window again and passed on with only the faintest glance of longing at the shining kitchen. If he had any idea that she remembered him he should see that he was mistaken. Buck looked disappointed, but he followed on to the dreary pile that Sally called her home.

She did not see him as, with lagging feet, she ascended the high stoop and climbed the five flights that led to her attic room, but Buck crossed quickly to the opposite side of the street and rang the bell, for his eyes had caught the sign announcing that furnished rooms were to be had, and that might he slept under the same roof.

He was on the steps the following night when Sally came along, pretending a tremendous interest in the scene before him. He nodded as the girl came up the steps and pulled off his cloth cap.

"Say, d'you want to ride out to the park after you eat your supper?" he asked bashfully. "I'm livin' here now," he added, as though that constituted a proper introduction.

For a moment Sally hesitated with the feminine instinct to be hardly won, but the afternoon had been excessively hot, and twice she had dropped over the machine. The foreman had been kept busy with smelling salts and water, for the girls had suffered terribly.

With an easy gesture Buck thrust his hand in his pocket and rattled three nickels and a dime against the quarter and half dollar, but it was not this so much as the thought of her room that decided Sally. With a nod and "I'll be down soon," she hurried up the steep flights.

She munched the bread and smoked sausage she had brought home with her while she hurried about her dressing. There was a clean waist she was saving for Sunday and a broad crimson ribbon that brought a touch of color to her face. The rest of the transformation was worked in her face through the thought that she was to have an escort.

Buck blinked as she came through the grim doorway. His startled "You are all right, sis," was uncouth enough, but it was the first compliment Sally had ever received, and she smiled radiantly upon her cavalier.

The ride to the park was a trip to fairyland after the clatter of the machinery and the heat of the operating room. Buck beamed when she declined his offer to find a partner for her to dance with, and they sat listening to the music and watching the dancers while Sally sipped her lemon soda and Buck his beer. Twice he treated her to ice cream when some of the other girls were near, and, under the warming influence of his admiration, Sally's wan face became transformed, and even one of the shipping clerks stopped to speak a few words to her.

Regretfully she turned away when Buck finally suggested that it was time to go and that they knew how to get there again. She could have stayed there until the lights were put out, but Buck was not minded to let her lose too much sleep, and they caught a car before the crowd was ready to start back to the city.

He gave a signal to the conductor before they reached their corner, and Sally followed him protestingly from the car.

"I know we ain't home yet," he admitted, "but I want to show you somethin.'"

He took her arm through his and led her to the windows of the Installment Bazaar company.

"Pretty, ain't it?" he asked, in unconscious repetition of their first meeting. "Say, I know a flat that furniture will just fit. I get eighteen per, and I get it every week. If you're scary, here's the firm I work for. They'll tell you I'm sober and all right. What do you say, little girl? Can't you see yourself in that kitchen gettin' supper ready for me 'long about 6 o'clock?"

"Me?" Sally's voice was awed. "Why, Buck, you ain't known me more'n three days."

"That's enough," he declared. "I know you enough to know you're the girl I want. You said the other night I was slow. I ain't so slow when the right girl comes along. Will you make it a go, dearest? Honest, I love you."

Sally's starved little heart swelled with emotion. Her colorless life had suddenly grown rosy. These two castaways of the city had found each other, and love had followed quickly.

"You ain't slow for a cent," she conceded, admiringly. "Say, Buck, that kitchen's most as lovely as the park."

"Then it's 'yes?'" he demanded as his breath came quickly.

"Stupid," said Sally, but it sounded like a caress, and Buck understood.

Made Sure It Was Used.

An old farmer and his wife, noted for their niggardliness, had a custom of allowing the servant only one match to light the fire with each morning.

One morning the match failed to kindle, so the servant went to their bedroom door and asked for another one.

A whispered consultation was held between the two, then audibly the wife said:

"Will you risk her wi' anither ane, John?"

"I doot we'll hae tae risk her, Janet," replied John, "but be sure an' seek a sicht o' the ane she got last nicht."—Glasgow Times.

One Ring and Another.

"I wonder when 'the ring' first became connected with fighting?" said the follower of pugilism. "Oh," replied Henpeck, "I suppose it dates back to the beginning of the Christian religion." "What's that? What has pugilism to do with religion?" "Oh, I thought you were speaking of the wedding ring."—Philadelphia Press.

The Doctor's Aim.

Intermission.

He yelled at the top of his voice for two hours and then stopped.

"Well," said his mother, "are you going to be good? Have you finished crying?"

"No," said Tommy, "I have not finished; I'm only resting."

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 22.—The cotton market was nervous and irregular today with the close at a decline of 7 to 10 points. Sales for the day were estimated at 300,000 bales. The opening was 5 to 8 points lower in response to lower cables than expected and private cables, reporting that the English trade was disturbed by the fact of labor troubles in Lancaster. During the early session the market had a sharp advance owing to a renewal of covering by Wall Street shorts and local bull support. After scoring a net gain of 4 to 5 points on the active months, the market eased off under realizing and ruled rather weak during the afternoon session under liquidation of buyers who were probably disappointed by the failure of an expected bullish crop estimated to materialize and by the absence of a more aggressive demand from the remaining short interest. The close was at practically the lowest level of the session. It was rumored at midday that a local authority had issued a crop estimate of 12,200,000 bales but this was subsequently denied and the statement made that the expected esimate would not be issued until Monday. Very little spot news came from the South but such wires as were received indicated rather a firmer tone in the interior. New England mills are said to be willing to buy but only at a considerable concessions.

Receipts at the ports today, 61,509 bales against 63,108 last week and 65,550 last year. For the week, 340,000 bales against 354,243 last week and 412,949 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 16,333 bales against 18,388 last year and at Houston 9,105 bales against 12,369 last year.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 22.—The dry goods market is quiet and little new business is passing, a reported sale of 1,000 bales of drills for India has aroused some interest. Inquiries from that market have been frequent for some time past. There is a strong hope that renewed buying for Red Sea ports will be resumed shortly. Cotton yarns are very quiet and easy. The local market is dull.

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 22.—The weekly sales in the printcloth market was estimated at about 20,000 pieces. The market rules very quiet in all sections. Buyers are not coming forward with any orders and it is expected present conditions will prevail until the money market eases some. The 28-inch 64 by 60 styles are being offered at 4 1-2, but buyers are not disposed to trade at this figure. Six cents is being asked for the wide 64. Other prices are practically quoted nominal. The quotations are 28-inch 64 squares 5 1-4; 28-inch 64 by 60, 4 1-2.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 22.—The most important feature in today's stock market was the discontinuance of the kind of liquidation which has kept sentiment nervous and upset for several days past. It was obvious that the circumstances which could force so painful a process must be sufficiently serious and the reports regarding the seat of the difficulty had reached a stage of great particularity. The action of the market today gave plausibility to the reports current that arrangements had been concluded to take care of the threatened interests and thus put a stop to the heavy sacrifices which were being made in the forcing of liquidation. The market showed recovery as it had to the belief in this report. Some demand there was from uncovered shorts, but very little from any other source. The estimates of the week's currency movement showed still so considerable a tide away from New York as to give warning of a possible further postponement of the turn towards improvement in the position of the banks From another point of view, however, the resources thus applied by the New York banks go to strengthen the interior banks and to prepare them for the resumption of normal operations now looked for at an early date. Rates for call loans were maintained today and the currency premium, while showing some relaxation, indicated persisting obstacles to securinging cash for bank check. A rise in the price of copper at the metal exchange was an incident to which some importance was attached. The day's dealings were small.

Bonds were weak. Total sales, par value $2,102,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales today 289,600 shares.

THE WHISKEY WITH ANCESTRY

TREASURY PLAN TO BREAK PANIC

Secretary Cortelyou Will Have No Red Tape in Allotment of Certificates.

WILL ACT WITH PROMPTAESS

Certificates Will Be Distributed Where They Will Do Most Good and Money Proceeds Will Go to Financial Centres.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov. 22.—An important announcement of policy was made by Secretary Cortelyou late this afternoon in regard to the allotment of the new one-year treasury certificates, which indicates that the Secretary is prepared to cut red tape as far as possible and place the proceeds of the sale of the certificates promptly at the disposal of the money market.

Secretary Cortelyou is carefully studying the applications for certificates in order to make the allotments in the manner which will be most beneficial to the monetary situation. The Secretary continued to receive calls today from prominent bankers and letters from various points in regard to the new issues.

Among those who called on Secretary Cortelyou today was Mr. Sol Wexler, vice president of the Whitney Central National Bank of New Orleans. Mr. Wexler reported that the cotton movement was going forward remarkably well under the adverse conditions prevailing. The New Orleans banks are supplying currency to the cotton growing districts and at the same time are maintaining adequate cash reserves. It is desired, however, to obtain all the assistance possible from the Treasury, in order to prevent a deficiency of currency, which would congest the cotton crop at Southern points and prevent the drawing of bills against shipments to Europe. Thus far the difficulty in disposing of bills for cash at New York, which was somewhat acute two or three weeks ago, has been largely overcome, partly by an improvement in the general situation and partly by direct dealings with Europe.

A great variety of rumors are in circulation in regard to the purpose of the President and Secretary Cortelyou in reference to currency legislation. Suggestions such as the insuring of deposits in National banks, which Mr. Bryan has just endorsed, the issue of additional bank notes against State and municipal bonds, and the requirement of interest on government deposits in the banks, are reported to have been presented to members of the administration and to have been favorably received. The fact appears to be, however, that the President and Secretary of the Treasury are simply assuming a receptive attitude and are listening to all suggestions which are made to them, without committing themselves to any.

Conference at White House.

Washington, Nov. 22.—J. Pierpont Morgan and George F. Baker, the latter president of the First National Bank of New York City, arrived here today for a conference with Secretary Cortelyou of the Treasury. At 10 o'clock tonight, Messrs. Morgan and Baker, accompanied by Assistant Secretary Robert Bacon, of State Department, went to the White House by appointment to see the president. The object of their visit was not divulged but it was believed to be in relation to the financial situation.

Upon leaving the White House at 11:25, after being with the President for an hour and a half, Mr. Morgan, on being asked in regard to any developments, replied that conditions in New York were re-assuring. He said everything possible was being done both day and night to relieve the money stringency and that the situation was satisfactory. Mr. Morgan said also that his object in coming to Washington today was to see Secretary Cortelyou in furtherance of the conference he had with the secretary in New York last week, at which time means were discussed for the further relief of the situation. He saw Secretary Cortelyou before going to the White House, and called on President Roosevelt tonight to pay his respects. Mr. Morgan probably will return to New York tomorrow. He could not say whether he would again see the President before leaving for New York.

DEWEY'S SECRETAY SUICIDE

Lieutenant Crawford Jumps From Potomac River Steamer.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov., 22.—Lieutenant John W. Crawford, U. S. N., secretary to Admiral Dewey, has disappeared and it is believed he has committed suicide. Today Bennett A. Allen, No. 1901 Fourth street, N. W., a friend of the missing man, received a special delivery letter from Lieutenant Crawford in which it was stated that he had determined on suicide and requesting Mr. Allen to break the news to Mrs. Crawford as gently as possible. A police alarm was sent out late this afternoon. Lieutenant Crawford's hat and coat were found on the deck of a ferry boat plying between Washington and Alexandria. While no one on the boat saw anybody jump overboard, yet from statements made by the crew the police are convinced that Lieutenant Crawford committed suicide by drowning. Financial difficulties caused Lieutenant Crawford's resolve to end his life, his friends say. He came to Washington from Vineland, N. J., twenty years ago and lived at 1902 G. street, N. W., with his wife and a daughter.

TO PREPARE FOR CAMPAIGN

Democratic National Committee to Meet in Washington December 12th to Name Time and Place for National Convention.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

French Lick, Ind., Nov. 22.—At a conference of the members of the Democratic National Committee, it was decided to hold a meeting of the committee at Washington, December 12, to select a time and place for the National Democratic Convention next year. National Chairman Thos. Taggart presided at today's conference. He said there were present eighteen members while 6 other members were represented by proxy. Three other members arrived tonight.

George S. Lenhart, of Atlanitc City, supplied the conference with literature booming that city for the convention. Several members of the committee will remain over Sunday.

National Chairman Taggart will be a candidate for re-election as the Indiana member of the National committee. When asked whether he would be a candidate for re-election as chairman of the National committee, Taggart's only reply was a laugh. Chairman Taggart tonight gave a banquet to visiting members of the committee.

BIGGEST PASSENGER SHIP.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 22.—Poking her nose through a dense curtain of fog that hid the coast, her topmasts lost from deck view in the enveloping chroud, the biggest, the most luxurious ship ever launched on any sea, finished in safety her briday voyage when at 11:03 o'cock a. mfi today the Cunard Line Steamship Mauretania came to anchor off the Sandy Hook lightship, five days, five hours and ten minutes from Queenstown.

Bearing a fortune of $12,500,000 in gold for the money market of the West, she fought her way through 3,000 miles of storm swept ocean, battling every mile of the course to meet and defeat the world's trans-Atlantic record of 4 days, 18 hours and 40 minutes, created and held by her sister ship, the Lusitania. Head winds and tumultuous cross-seas baffled the attempt, yet the Mauretania won the coveted right to fly one "blue ribbon" at her peak. On Thursday, November 21, Captain Pritchard drove the huge ship 624 knots (671 miles) by the favor of a shift in the wind to north-northeast, six knots better than the best day's run of the Lusitania and smashing all records of marine.

Though the new liner demonstrated her ability to develop a higher speed by day under favorable conditions, than the Lusitania has thus far proved herself capable of, an uncommonly stormy passage and fog enforced caution off the coast combined to increase her record time ten hours and thirty minutes beyond that established by her sister ship. Captain Pritchard believes that in a fair weather passage he can beat the Lusitania from coast to coast.

COLLUSION IS ALLEGED

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 22.—Anthony N. Brady, Thomas F. Ryan, H. H. Vreeland, and Paul D. Cravath again appeared before the grand jury today in the investigation into the sale of the Wall and Cortlandt Street Ferries and Railway Company, a paper road, to the Metropolitan Securities Company. Mr. Brady had bought the franchise for $250,000 and sold it for $965,000. Mr. Vreeland was formerly president of the New York City Railway Company, Mr. Cravath is counsel for the Metropolitan Securities Company, and Mr. Ryan is a director in the same company

The United States Supreme Court in Washington served papers upon United States Circuit Court Judge E. H. Lacombe today, the effect of which is to review his appointment of receivers Adrian H. Joline and Douglas Robinson for the New York City Railway Company. The order, which was secured by Roger Foster, attorney for several judgment creditors of the New York City and the Metropolitan Street Railway Companies, requires the judge to show cause why the receivership should not be treminated and is returnable December 2. Mr. Foster claims there was collusion between the petitioning creditors and the railway company in the appointment of receivers.

SUMMONING POWERS JURORS

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Georgetown, Ky., Nov. 22.—It developed today in the trital of Caleb Powers for alleged complicity in the assassination of Governor Goebel, that Arthur Goebel, brother of the murdered man accompanied Sheriff Warring into Grant county while the sheriff was summoning a special venire of 150 talesmen who arrived here today for examination as possible jurors.

As Powers was allowed to send his brother-in-law, H. W. Green, and several friends with Sheriff Warring, Arthur Goebel decided to go along and watch the summoning process. Arthur Goebel took with him five friends while Powers' brother-in-law and four friends accompanied the sheriff.

Never before in the history of Kentucky courts has a prisoner on trial and those who are prosecuting him, been allowed to send representatives with a court baliff to see that an impartial jury was summoned.

John Taylor, a negro 18 years of age, was hanged at Bowling Green, Caroline county, Va., yesterday for the murder of Jenifer Coleman, another negro.

BRADLEY CASE UP TO HLIENISTS

Several Experts Will Testify That Slayer of Senator Brown Was Insane.

PRISONER IS DEJECTED

The Murderess Seems to Have Moods Alienists Will Be Plied With Hypothetical Question of Thirteen Thousand Words.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov. 22.—The criminal court, in which Mrs. Annie M. Bradley is being tried on the charge of murdering former United States Senator Brown of Utah, will hold no session tomorrow, and as a consequence there will be no further proceedins in the trial until Monday. When the court adjourned today the defense had practically completed its presentation of proof, very little remaining except the testimony of experts who will be introduced for the purpose of showing that when Mrs. Bradley shot Senator Brown she was insane. Several eminent alienists have volunteered for this service, and it is now understood that they will be called early next week. The hypothetical question which will be submitted to them has been prepared. It contains 13,000 words.

Today's proceedings in the case were devoted largely to what may be designated as "odds and ends" in the shape of testimony. Mrs. Bradley's mother was recalled for the purpose of clearing up a point; several more of the Salt Lake witnesses were examined as to the reputation for peace and order of Mrs. Bradley, which they said was good; Mrs. Bradley's uncle, Lyman Shrewsbury, of California, told of instances of insanity and eccentricity in Mrs. Bradley's family; Judge Henderson, Senator Brown's law partner, narrated interviews with Mrs. Bradley relative to her intimacy with Mr. Brown and a number of Brown's letters to Mrs. Bradley were read. The reading of the letters furnished the most interesting incident of the day. They were filled with mingled protestations of love and reproaches for interest in other men, and they stirred Mrs. Bradley to deep emotion. She listened eagerly to the reading and closing her eyes, seeming entirely lost in the memories they awakened.

The defendant was not in bouyant mood today. Her manner was dejected, her speech infrequent and her face pale. Evidently there had been a reaction after the conclusion yesterday of her testimony. She looked as if she had had a sleepless night. She was not so depressed, however, that she could not laugh over the testimony of her uncle indicating that her aunt had been jealous of him.

TARIFF SUSTAINS MONOPOLY.

Keeps Down Foreign Competition With Tobacco Trust.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Nov., 22.—William R. Harris, vice president and chairman of the board of directors of the American Tobacco Company, was again on the stand today when the hearing on the complaint of the United States against the American Tobacco Company and others was resumed before United States Commissioner Shields. Mr. Harris said that approximately two-thirds of the stock of the British-American Tobacco Company was owned by the American Tobacco Company. About 5 per cent of the common stock of the Imperial Company was held by the American Tobacco Company. He said that in 1898 the exportation by the American Tobacco Company of manufactured products amounted to 500,000 pounds, but in 1901 it had dropped to 275,000 pounds. This was due, the witness said, to the differentials imposed by the British government which operated to exclude them from doing business and competing with the British manufacturers. On the other hand the protective tariff in the United States operated to exclude the British manufacturers from this country.

Mr. Harris Harris said that while the companies are losing money in some places, the export trade on the whole is profitable and the possibilities of the future are very great. He declared that there had been no restraint of trade either in this country or England as a consequence of the export agreement.

The hearing will be continue next Monday.

EIGHT HOUR DAY FIGHT

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 22.—The American Federation of Labor today, declaring a universal 8-hour day paramount to all questions, even to an increase in wages "except in such trades and callings where the earnings are so meagre as to make it difficult to maintain a fair standard of living"—called for a campaign of education and organization among all affiliated organizations that will aid in bringing about the desired end. The Federation determining that it would be impossible to secure a universal 8-hour day by any sudden or radical concerted step, issued a call for the accumulation by all tradesmen of a sufficient fund to make them fully prepared for the fight "when opportunity will favor the most immediate success, with the least degree of suffering and privation."

Averring that the time is not ripe for a universal union label, the convention declared "the present system of craft labels as best calculated to serve the purposes for which the union label is designed." The Federation called upon all persons affiliated in the trades union movement to demand the union label on all products purchased and especially called upon all men to demand the "blue label" upon their tobacco. After a long and exciting debate there was referred to the executive council a proposition to compel all international unions which have locals affiliated with the "United Hebrew Trades Council" of New York to call upon locals to withdraw therefrom. The discussion brought out many trades union internal troubles in New York. Denying that any religious question was involved, several speakers alleged that the "United Hebrew Trades Council" while professing to be an aid to the organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, had no more right to a separate organization than did the Irish or Germans, and is promoting the boycott of recognized unions in New York with continuous work against the interests of trades unions in that city when on strike.

The convention accepted an invitation to join the trades unionists of Washington, D. C., next Thursday in a great demonstration "for the preservation of trade unionism in the District of Columbia."

The Federation disposed of a large amount of business. A number of boycott resolutions were passed and other important action taken, calling for all international unions to have their locals affiliate with central bodies, calling for a minimum wage of $9 per week for all female retail clerks; calling upon the meat packers to define their future polity towards the cutters and butchers in the big meat packing houses of the country; referring to the executive council the matter of having all international unions call upon their locals to withdraw from the Brooklyn Federation of Labor and join the Brooklyn Central Labor Union; calling for the universal organization of "union uabel leagues" such as those in Denver, Salt Lake, St. Louis and Kansas City; calling upon the women of the country to demand the union label on all products purchased, and referring to the executive council with hearty approval the question of having women organized.

BRADSTREET'S TRADE REVIEW

Better Tone in Business, But the Weather is an Obstacle.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 22.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

While a number of cities report that the tone of affairs has taken a turn for the better, actual business, taking the country as a whole, shows an increased degree of quiet, both at wholesale and retail, a working out of the continued scarcity of currency, at some points at lessening activity in industry and a continuance of unreasonably mild weather, with its natural effect upon distribution of Winter goods. There is evident in wholesale trade circles an indisposition to do business for future periods and the large numbers of cancellations resulting from the past unsettlement are a subject of widespread discussion. In some lines, notably steel and iron and cotton goods, traders generally have set their faces against encouraging this movement and a hopeful sign is that some buyers who were stampeded early have since reconsidered their action and asked that goods be shipped. Still, buyers at wholesale is in a high degree conservative and the disposition is to confine purchasing to present wants. As to this latter feature, however, it might be well to remember that the day-to-day buying of 84,000,000 people makes up a considerable volume in the aggregate. Collections are rather slower and some attention has been excited by the requests made from some states that all creditors be lenient in order that the interests of all be protected.

CLUBS CAN SELL LIQUOR.

Prohibition in Alabama Not So Hard and Fast.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 22.—After voting decisively against the consideration of the Carmichael prohibition club bill the Senate this afternoon retraced his steps and by a practically unanimous vote, passed the bill after it had been amended.

The bill as amended provides that clubs organized and chartered prior to November 1, 1907, do not come under the provisions of the act. It is also provided that individual club members cannot be held responsible for the violations of the act as was set forth in the original bill.
